'We are to do what we can to make ourselves receptive to the future.'

You may have watched the recent BBC programme The Brotherhood about the monastery of Mount St Bernard in Leicestershire (it's well worth watching and you'll find it on iPlayer). In his reflections on the life of the monastery, the then Abbot, Erik Varden continued by saying:

'Every day is an opportunity to begin again. There are times of growth. Times of fatigue. There may even be a time of dying. But we must always aspire to be at least receptive to the grace of renewal.'

The grace of God has been defined as 'the love and mercy given to us by God because God desires us to have it, not necessarily because of anything we have done to earn it.'

So what of the future? Much as we might like it to, life will not 'return to normal' on May 17th or on June 21st. Yes, there is hope but even those who have had two jabs by those dates will, like all of us, need to continue to be careful and cautious both for ourselves and for the wellbeing of others... probably for quite some time to come.

The Christian faith does not shy away from the realities of life: uncomfortable as they are at times. And it is through God's grace that we can begin again and grow. That we can receive strength to cope with fatigue and gain comfort in loss. That we can receive the grace of renewal.

In these uncertain times, may each of us be receptive to the future and all that it holds.

Chuckle Time!

These sentences have apparently appeared in church bulletins or have been announced at church services.

- For those of you who have children and don't know it, we have a nursery downstairs.
- Miss Charlene Mason sang 'I will not pass this way again', giving obvious pleasure to the congregation.
- Eight new choir robes are currently needed due to the addition of several new members and to the deterioration of some of the older ones.

Sweet was the Walk, extracts from a sonnet by William Wordsworth.

Sweet was the walk along the narrow lane
At noon, the banks and hedgerows all the way,
Shagged with pale green tufts of fragrant hay
Caught by the hawthorn from the loaded wain,
Which age with many a slow stoop strove to gain

Quiet and dark through the thick wove trees

And childhood, seeming still most busy, took
His little rake, with cunning side long look,
Sauntering to pluck the strawberries, wild, unseen

Something lost - so little gained

This old footpath has seen many a child hurry from Luton, to the village school in Ideford. The sound of laughter and secrets echoing down through the dappled shade.

From Rixafer Rd, through a kissing gate walkers can enjoy an open, grassy path over fields, hedged with honeysuckle, sweet brier, hawthorn and buddleia. This first part of the path is still a delight. Reach the second kissing gate and walkers, could until recently, slowly wander downwards through a dark tunnel of trees and richly covered banks. Banks abundant with flora and fauna, haunts of wood mice, wild rabbits and shining beetles. Ground nesting bees found safety in crevices and tree roots. In Spring and early Summer, bluebells, wood violets, celandines and primroses formed a tapestry of colour and scents. The sounds of nesting birds filled the air. Nuthatches, treecreepers and busy wrens searching for grubs and insects. Yes, this top stretch was narrow and in places uneven, but with interest at every step until the path widened naturally, ending near the Barns at Lower Colleybrook. Who would want to hurry?

The sun dappled tunnel has changed drastically, established bankside trees have been cut down, the lovely banks themselves have been scraped clean of their flora, a wide gash at the top of the path has forced another wide gateway through, exposing tree roots. The lane itself has been widened and the surface 'levelled'. Is there really a need for more access for powerful polluting vehicles? What has this lovely footpath done to justify such desecration? Our drovers' lanes, green lanes and public footpaths link us with nature in all its diversity, surely they should be protected for generations to come?

IDEFORD'S OAK TREE

Help needed!

In order to give the oak tree the best chance of surviving for the longest possible time, the parish council have decided to carry out the recommendations detailed in the recent tree survey. The recommendations were to remove the grass, mulch around the tree and apply a granular fertiliser onto the roots.

Are there any volunteers who would be able to carry out any of the work, or supply any of the materials needed?

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Please contact Mrs Juliette Thompson – the Parish Clerk on idefordclerk@hotmail.co.uk or call on 07427 145320

Or speak to any of the Parish Councillors.
